

Joey Villemont at cointemporary

Joey Villemont is a French artist living and working in Paris, France. Villemont has had solo exhibitions at Galerie Valentin, Paris; Intermedia/CCA, Glasgow; and The Project Room, Glasgow. He has also been in numerous group shows, including The One Where We Wonder What Friends Did, curated by Oliver Braid at Wasps, Glasgow and Voices Green and Purple II, curated by Sophie Vinet at Le Style, Caen, among others. He also runs the online project space relaax.in.

Villemont works across diverse media, including sculpture, video, and, more recently, web-based work. He is part of the artist duo It's Our Playground with Camille Le Houezec since 2009.

For Cointemporary, Villemont presents a website, <http://24hourbody.net/>. The site displays time, generic images, and motivational quotes, and aims to connect our viewing body with our creative spirit. Inspired by our internal biological clock it sets a new time, a corporal time, more in sync with our creative life that many of us live online. The quotes are extracted from mostly fashion interviews and the images from diverse sources. The website is Cointemporary's first "custodian style" purchase, where each of 12 parts are available at 0.3BTC. Each collector owns 1/12th of the work, and ensures that it remains online.